The Sustainability Award 2024

By Nobel Sustainability Trust Foundation

The Nobel Sustainability Trust Foundation (NST) encourages sustainability-related research and development initiatives and the implementation of sustainable solutions while addressing the following topics:

- Climate change with an emphasis on global warming reduction
- Advances in clean and renewable technologies and policies
- A pollution-free, life-sustaining environment
- Inspiration for present and future generations with regard to sustainability thinking and changes in societies

A key component to promote the activities described above is the Sustainability Award. These awards are given annually to individuals, organizations, and companies that make outstanding contributions to sustainability. The winners will be presented and will receive the award during a symposium organized by the NST.

The themes for the three Sustainability Awards 2024 are:

- Leadership in Implementation
- Outstanding Research & Development in the field of Agriculture
- Outstanding Research & Development in the field of Water

Winners will receive a cash award, a certificate, and a medal.

Minimum cash award for Leadership in Implementation: 300,000 SEK

Minimum cash award for Outstanding Research & Development in the field of Agriculture:

500,000 SEK*

Minimum cash award for Outstanding Research & Development in the field of Water: 500,000 SEK

 Swedish krona

The Technical University of Munich (TUM) as the Award Coordinating University (ACU) forms, in consultation with the NST, the Award Committee that will evaluate the nominations and select the final winners in the above-mentioned categories. The Award Committee is composed of international scientists and entrepreneurs.

Nomination proposals have to be submitted until Saturday, April 20th, 2024 (12 p.m./noon CET).

More information regarding the Sustainability Award supported by NST including the nomination guidelines and submission modalities can be found on the NST website:
